MRS. HARRIET HAYS DEAD.

Mrs. Harriet Hays, the wife of Mr. Arthur Hays, died at her home, near Rockton, this county, after a few days illness of pneumonia, on Tuesday night, January 24th, 1899. Mrs. Hays' maiden name was Laubon. She was a near relative of Joseph and Samuel Laubon, formerly of this county, and of Silas Laubon who went west from this State and county forty or fifty years ago, when this writer was a small boy. She was a consistent member of the Greenbrier Methodist Church, in whose Christian character her neighbors had confidence. She was for about forty-five years the faithful and loving helpmeet of her husband, whom she has left in his old age in sad bereavement and loneliness. May our Heavenly Father in whom he has trusted comfort and sustain him in his great loss.

Mrs. Hays was about sixty-nine years old. She leaves, besides her husband, a host of friends who feel keenly their own personal loss in her departure, but who rejoice in the blessed thought that she "is not dead but sleepeth," and that in the morning of the resurrection there shall be a happy reunion in that home where comes no parting. A Friend. January 30, 1899.

THE CONFEDERATE REUNION.

Dear Sir:—We have had inquiry from a number of county chairmen, requesting us to state to them, the amount and kind of provisions required for the reunion of the veterans of the late war. We have, therefore, thought it would help them and you to suggest the amount in detail which, if you can secure it, will make up the quota of your county.

To properly feed the veterans who can no longer do their own cooking, we will need from your county:

950 pounds of meat, composed of ham, beef, mutton, pork, eggs, chickens.

1 barrel flour.

2 barrels fruit.

3 barrels potatoes.

2 barrels meal.

1 barrel rice.

170 pounds butter.

Pickles, &c., as you may be able to send.

If you can not send in kind, their value in money will be an equivalent.

Yours respectfully,

Wm. W. White,

Chairman Com. on Commissary.

The several camps of the county will please take action on the above circular letter at as early a day as possible.

Respectfully,

T. W. Woodward,

Ex. Committeeman Fairfield County.

LETTER FROM WINTHROP.

Despite the fact that our last two entertainments came so near together, there was no lack of interest in either, and both were largely attended.

On Wednesday night, 18th inst., we enjoyed a treat in the music of the Benedict Concert Company. The harp music by Miss Benedict was particularly enjoyed, and Mr. Benedict's marvelous power over the violin had a magnetic influence, and held the audience spell bound. Mr. Benedict responded gracefully and obligingly to the repeated encores; his fine selections made up for the vacant numbers of the Sapporo who was unable to sing on account of hoarseness.

On Friday, the 20th, we were again visited by Charles Underhill the great Shakespearean reader. In a monologue of old justice to each character in the play of "Rip Van Winkle." All present were highly pleased. After the entertainment the girls were permitted to see their friends in the parlor.

The next number of the Star Course will be the college concert in March. There was a meeting of the Winthrop Literary Society on last Saturday evening. The selections were interesting and instructive. Winthrop society is doing a good work this year; it has a membership of about one hundred and twenty-five girls, most of them earnest workers. The society will give, in a week or two, an entertainment which it hopes to make a success.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.

About one o'clock on Wednesday night John Russell heard a noise and thought that some one had entered his store and got up to investigate, and he and his wife looked all about but saw no one. John then raised the window and looked around but saw no one. He knew nothing further until next morning. It was discovered on Thursday morning that some one had taken an augur and bored a hole in the back door of Mr. A. B. Cathcart's store. The hole was bored just above the bar that goes across the door. As no one had entered the store it is supposed that the burglar was frightened away by hearing John Russell moving about in the adjoining house. The burglar left behind him the door open, and it was found that the door was open.

LOCAL HISTORY.

Mr. Foeche's Effort to Interest His Pupils in the Subject is Commended.

Mr. Editor: The effort of Prof. Foeche to teach the children something of local history would meet the approval not only of the trustees and patrons of Mt. Zion but of the community also. Too much has it been the practice in our southern schools to neglect this very important part of a child's education. I recall my experience when a school boy, and the schools I attended were quite up to the standard, how I had at finger ends the names of the kings and rulers and great battles of Rome, Greece and England; how I was familiar with the story of the Trojan war and the shield of Achilles; how I could tell about Leonidas and his brave Spartans and had never heard of the battle of Moberly's Meeting House, fought by the patriots of Fairfield in their struggle for liberty, the scene of which, was not more than ten miles from the place where I was born. A child should be taught something about the struggles, the successes, the traditions and the institutions of the community in which it is growing up, and then will it be better fitted to enter upon the broader study of the histories of state, nation and the world. I have read with much pleasure the compositions on the college oak written by two of Mr. Foeche's bright pupils and published recently in your columns. I trust we shall have the pleasure of reading more on the same line.

I would suggest, disclaiming however, all spirit of criticism, that some of the facts given in these compositions are not as I have always heard them, and I call on Mr. G. H. McMaster and Dr. W. E. Aiken, who are our best living authorities on local history, to let us hear from them through your columns as to Cornwall's encampment here and the house he occupied; also whether Mt. Zion was organized by the children of this community. I feel sure something from these gentlemen would not only be of much assistance to the children but prove a pleasant diversion to us grown up folks in these days of four and a half cents cotton and this season of Christmas bills.

Yours truly,

X.

Hidden Beauty

In Egypt the custom is for Princesses to hide their beauty by covering the lower part of the face with a veil. In America the beauty of many of our women is hidden because of the weakness and sickness peculiar to the sex.

If the Egyptian custom prevailed in this country, many sufferers would be glad to cover their premature wrinkles, their sunken cheeks, their unhealthy complexion, from the eyes of the world with the veil of the Orient.
